BONDINGBOARD

Two people plus emotion and closeness - the basis of attachment theory transferred to two axes.

So playful, so self-explanatory that even a six-year-old child can talk about attachment dynamics as a matter of course.

So stimulating and so appealing that difficult topics become easier to address and tough recollections can also be conveyed without words.

And yet so dynamic and complex that counseling processes, therapy and coaching can be simplified and deepened at the same time.

The box with game board (28x52cm) contains countless additional figures in different colors. This allows multi-person dynamics, hypothetical scenarios, wishes and time courses to be presented.

With colored rings in the belly, the intuitive seat of emotions, basic tendencies or chronic stress can be clarified.

And the almost one hundred game pieces with symbols and drawings offer suggestions and symbolic orientation in therapy.

Semi-standard interview guides make it easy to get started.

Test the new instrument as a web app and let yourself be convinced!

The fully functional demo version allows multiple 10-minute free reloads from smartphones to PCs and Macs.

Still in development: Diagnostic online screening for children, parents and teachers.

Collaborations for validation and other studies are welcome.
